* In order to be able to offer an experience of an experiential workshop to all participants in a large conference, we will be asking people to choose one only of the experiential workshops on offer. During the times when participants are free (because other workshops that they are not in will be taking place), they are invited to consider continuing sharing the experience of the workshop they have been in with other members of the workshop, or visit the conference photographic and film exhibitions. Or they can hang out with friends and colleagues either in the conference building, or outside it in the surrounding neighborhood.
